

Brian Loughran
Johns Hopkins
Team Forming Narrative
Software Project Management

This document is just a short narrative explaining how each team member contributed. The members of the project are Brian Hoelzer, Jason Zhau, Emily List and Brian Loughran (myself). Each team member has been contributing a fair share in my opinion and communicating well with regular meetings. For the SDP, Brian Hoelzer contributed sections 1-3, I contributed section 4, Jason contributed section 5, and Emily contributed sections 6-8 and all team members reviewed other team members sections and managed formatting. One mid-course correction that was made when a part of Jason's section 5 was transferred to Brian Hoelzer since Brian Hoelzer's sections seemed very short and Jason's section seemed very long.

One thing that I may have done differently was reduce the number of meetings that were had on the SDP (I believe we had a total of 5 meetings, which may have been able to have been condensed to 3), and I believe that the meeting frequency will be reduced for the BOE with no detrimental impact to deliverable quality. However, in the grand scheme of things, this is a small change and generally we progressed smoothly. I am very happy with my team, and I look forward to working with them on future assignments for the duration of this class.